

Barolo DOCG

- Valter Bera represents the very best of small-scale Asti and Moscato d'Asti production in Piedmont. He has dedicated time and energy to making the wines of the Neviglie area known and appreciated.
- The family produces Moscato, Barbaresco, but also Dolcetto, Brachetto Langhe Nebbiolo, Barbera and Barbera Superiore.
- Moscato d'Asti and fully sparkling Asti are today almost exclusively produced by large wineries. Valter Bera strives to return this historic wine to its small-winery roots, which means producing these wines by hand rather than by automation as well as working with the Martinotti (Charmat) method on a much smaller scale than his competitors.

Varietal: 100% Nebbiolo

Appellation: Barolo DOCG

Production Zone: Castiglione Falletto, Piedmont

Soil: high hills, clayey and rich in limestone

Vinification: Grapes hand-picked. Soft pressing, fermentation in stainless steel tanks

Maturation: Minimum 24 months in barriques, then rest in bottle before release for 8 months

For many centuries Langhe was a rural region and, until 1970, it was one of Italy's poorest regions. Bera started to bottle his own wine in 1969, as one of the first in Langa. Bera is a typical Piemontese family with their roots firmly in their own soil: they don't like travel much, they prefer to stay at home in their own safe place.

- Bright garnet color with reflections warmer with the passing of time. In the glass it gives off ethereal and spicy fragrances, with light vanilla and flowery notes, cocoa, coffee, licorice and hints of truffle. A full-bodied well-balanced wine with a long finish.
- It pairs well with red meats, game and aged cheeses.
